

MISCO FACT SHEET

Executive Recruitment

Searching for your organisation's chief executive or senior-level management is a task which should be taken seriously. Partnering with MISCO Consulting is a truly collaborative experience which would allow us to guide you through in this important process.

To name a few, we have assisted companies in recruiting their Chief Executive Officer, Chief Finance Officer, Chief Operations Officer, Chief Investment Officer and also Chief Information Officer. We have also assisted companies in their start up phases and thus were involved in strategic recruitment decisions by sourcing key individuals at the foundation stage.

Our methodology is based on a thorough understanding of the strategic and commercial issues affecting your organisation and on the connections and networks we have developed throughout the years we have been operating.

To discuss your requirements please contact Joanne Bondin on jbondin@miscomalta.com or +356 22054503.

HR & Business Advisory

MISCO's HR & Business Advisory Unit specialises in People Management, Change Management, Quality Management, Business Restructuring and Rationalisation, Marketing Strategy and Economic Strategy. Through the years we have served the needs of organisations by providing comprehensive and cost effective human resource consulting services and solutions in all spheres of HR management.

HR Tools & Reports

The human resources function involves the development and implementation of strategies related to the management of employees covering areas such as remuneration packages, performance management, policies and procedures, job descriptions and training needs. Through the right combination of qualitative and quantitative information in a user friendly format, MISCO has put together an array of Business Tools and Resources that are available to become part of your corporate library for easy reference.

HR Business Partners

The human resources function is increasingly taking on a more strategic role within organisations. Having a specialised HR department to deal with complex issues including recruitment, compliance with legislation and payroll administration can prove to be time consuming and costly for most organisations.

Your organisation would benefit from the full support provided by MISCO through its vast experience in the HR field over the past 31 years. You will benefit from access to HR expertise, reduced costs and operational flexibility. Our integrated approach allows you to outsource to MISCO your entire HR function or components of it.

As an HR Business Partner, we will analyse your needs to determine the most suitable level of HR outsourcing that will improve the effectiveness and efficiency of your organisation.

Marketing & Opinion Research

MISCO offers its clients a range of marketing and opinion research services providing them with research based information that is critical for their development, such as the launching of new products and services.
